“ Erick and Family,

I can't express the amount of love and prayers I send your way during this extremely difficult time. I can only offer these words of encouragement...

Death is not the end - it is the beginning, a "rebirth" if you will back with the creator and living in the kingdom of God.

The soul never dies and I firmly believe that these difficult times, these moments of emptiness and heartbreak, are temporary.

Although these words may not lessen your pain at the moment, I hope in time that you will come back to re-read this and understand that the body is a physical vehicle in which the SOUL lives. The body may wear, but the soul grows and is eternal.

Please celebrate the many, many memories your have. In time, you will laugh, sometimes you will cry but these memories are what FAMILY is all about and has made you all who you are today as individuals.

I have been friends with Erick for over seventeen years. He has been there for me. A kind word here, a helping hand there. Erick learned these qualities through his upbringing. I may have never met Annie in person, but see her as a gracious and caring person because her teachings are exuded within her children.

Hold Gods hand as you walk through these troubling times, tread lightly upon each other as we circumvent this thing called life, and above all else, never forget to stop and see the beauty that is all around you, including the memories that you create together.

With my deepest condolences,

Richard Faraci

“ Dearest Erick & The Gadson Family,

I know now more than ever before that no words can comfort the breaking of your heart and the loss of your mother. I fondly remember recently how I would come to visit you and your mother and sit and watch Judge Judy and pass the time as we giggled to her exuberant ways of deliberations and letting people have it! We would look at each other and just sigh lol. "Well, she let them have it" as I would agree. I/we pray for your strength to get through this tough road ahead for both you and your family. We all grieve with you, and our thoughts and prayers are always with you and your family. We will always be here for you with open arms. Take comfort in the fact that your mom was a faithful, God-fearing, and devoted person, much as my mother was. She'll forever hover above you and guide and protect you, as she always has. She finally gets her wings and flies with the angels and will forever be a part of you and your family. Our deepest condolences and sympathy.

Love always,

Shaun & Lewis
