“ Brandon McNair was an man with who had a kindness about him. I met him at a residence where men could live while holding a job, participating in a training program, or recuperating from a medical condition. I was visiting my husband one afternoon and had locked my keys in my SUV. Fortunately, my back door was open but with my stroke, I could not crawl in to retrieve the keys myself. One of the employees called upon Brandon to lend a hand. He was polite and kind and very agile as he hopped into the vehicle, quickly crawled through to be my hero and retrieve my keys. Brandon handed me my keys with a smile and was such a sweetheart. He reminded me of my brother who lived in a group home and was always ready to help anyone he could. Just as my brother had been, I found Brandon to always be polite and ready with a smile. I'm glad to have met him.

“ I’m truly sorry for your lost. The first time I ever saw Brandon was at Walmart and he smile at me. Then I saw him again in amscot. But I never knew who he was until now. Losing a love one is painful. But know our Lord thou God doesn’t make any mistakes. I pray the family will stay strong and never give up on your faith. Sleep in peace Brandon rest with the angles
