“ Charles visited my father Charles Grissett almost every day. As I began to get to know him, I discovered he was married to Mrs. Ellington, my high school (class of '83) guidance counselor. Since my father worked outside, there will be times when Charles sat on the porch by himself, waiting for my father to be free from work. When I would see him sitting alone, me, my husband Steve, or even my nephew Rod, would talk to him, keeping him occupied until my father re-joined him on the porch. This free-time allowed all of us to share stories, laughs and bond with Charles. He had some amazing stories. Lastly, not to long go Charles showed me his driver's license because "we" too shared the same birthday, January 3. Charles will forever be in our hearts, and will be greatly missed.

“ Mr. Ellington (and Mrs. Ellington) was one of those select people who you feel blessed to have had them touch your life. I feel honored to have known him. He was a ray of hope and sunshine to all he met. And just today I learned we shared the same birthday, 20 years apart. Will miss your smile. My deepest sympathy and condolences to the Ellington family. Keeping you in heart and prayer,

“ The first shall be last and the last shall be first means so much more to me now. I will always be your "spoiled chocolate baby". So you know I wanted you to know first how much I miss you. I am like you in so many ways. From your humbleness to your funny ways. I will forever have your face and that makes me smile but most importantly remember the foundation you laid for my siblings and I. Your time and service on this Earth speaks for itself but none of that matters because you taught me from a little girl to believe that Jesus Christ was my Lord and Savior and heaven was the reward. No amount of service, nor riches will get you to heaven. Lord I thank you this day this was instilled in me early on. Job well done dad. As we always say when we hang up. I love you and talk to you later. Your baby girl. Natasha Marie as only you called me each day.
