

Effie Lee Brooks

February 26, 1955 - January 16, 2018

Effie Lee Brooks was born to the parentage of late Nathaniel and Dorothy Mae Brooks in the city of Pompano Beach, Florida on February 26, 1955. She accepted Christ at an early age and baptized under the leadership of the late Dr. G.E. Daniels at Newborn Holiness Church in the city of Pompano Beach, Florida.

Effie attended and graduated from Coconut Creek High School in Coconut Creek Florida class of 1973. Effie was employed by the Broward County School Board at Atlantic Vocational Technical School for the past 24 years. Effie loved to serve God and had a great love for music and singing. She wrote songs and started her own musical group, The Pompano Spirituals, which celebrated their 20th anniversary in October 2017. Effie served and was ordained a minister at St. Phillip Church of the Living God under the leadership of the late Bishop P.H. Lewis. She reinstated her membership with Newborn Holiness Church on June 14, 2015 where she served faithfully under the leadership of Elder Harold Westley, preaching God's word until her death. Effie was preceded in death by her sister, Joyce Brooks McCormick. She leaves to mourn her memories a loving daughter, Latoria Gates Lawson; three grandchildren, Kiara Effie Lawson, Kourtney Danielle Lawson and Kevon Thomas Lawson; three brothers, Johnny Ray (Eva) Brooks, James (Teratha) Brooks and Herbert Brooks; two sisters, Jessie (Martin) Durbin and Valerie (Walter) Aaron; a very special friend, Kenneth Lewis; three godchildren, Isiah McCormick, Daniels Brooks and Khari McCormick; one godbrother, Deantuan

Fields; a host of nieces, nephews, other relatives and friends.
