“ Taking me to football games, showing me the better sides of life, helping me figure out the things I struggled with and showing me better routes and paths, visiting me after purchasing my first home, sending you my creative projects and hearing your feedback, me playing on your phone just to hear you laugh, encouraging me to be confident, house painting together, your smile, those black glasses, hearing your house shoes sliding across the floor, being the coolest man in the room, private, but very informative, heart felt, musically inclined, and artistically creative, family centered, and children first, someone I can share my most inner hurt and who really gonna keep it real with me and challenge me to get up and push. Im so grateful for you, so blessed to have had your words of wisdom, and that wisdom will carry me to the end of time. Forever and always Tia 🦋
