

Joann Vitacco

August 1, 1954 - November 5, 2022

Joann Vitacco aka "Mama Jo" was born August 1st, 1954 in New York. She began struggling with various health concerns at such a young age. However, those hardships created a sense of determination that was unstoppable.

After years of being told she would never bare children, she was blessed with two beautiful daughters; Loretta and Amanda. She raised her girls in Woodhaven, New York where she babysat to not only provide for them, but to also instill her love of watching children learn and grow each day.

In 2000, mom was gifted her first grandchild; Alivia Rose. In 2003, one of Mama Jo's dreams came true and she and her family relocated to Kissimmee, Florida. Living in Central Florida for ten years, min made new friendships and truly lived her best life. Years later, two more grandchildren and one great grandchild; Caden, Alexander and Michael joined the family.

Despite her health deteriorating over the years, that never stopped her desire to cherish precious moments with her family. In February, 2022 Mama Jo relocated again to Sunrise, Florida where she resided in a 24 hour skilled nursing home to receive wrap around care. It was there that she passed peacefully in her sleep on November 5th, 2022.

“ In the 80's Mama Jo took care of my daughter Jennifer while I worked but this amazing and loving lady was so much more than a "babysitter". I appreciated Joanne and was blessed to be able to call her my precious friend. Joanne cared so much and her warm, comforting presence, plus her hearty laugh, made her someone very special to me. May you rest in peace, tender heart, and know that you will always live on through your beautiful family. Joanne, you believed in me when I didn't believe in myself.
