“ Her kind, patient, and loving spirit will be missed. My fondest memory of her: When Roxanne and I were little girls, Aunt Joyce would often allow us to play in her hair for hours just to keep us entertained. On one occasion (we were about 5yrs old) she fell asleep for a few hours only to wake up to us massaging a concoction of lotion, vaseline, and tons of spit thoroughly into her hair. In 5year old girl's language, we explained to her that we gave her a special treatment like they do at the beauty shops. Yup, we did that. LOL. Aunt Joyce wasn't mad, as a matter of fact, she laughed so hard and called my mother to tell her about the special conditioning treatment we gave her and that it was the best sleep she ever had in a long time. Sleep well, my dear Aunt Joyce. This is now the best sleep you will ever have. You will be missed. Love you.

Carla.

I met Mrs. Grant through her daughter Roxanne. We lived around the corner from each other since middle school. Mrs. Grant's home was like my second home. She always made a point to come out of her bedroom to say hello. I loved her Island accent and often tried to imitate her calling for Roxanne. Sometimes I would conveniently come over to visit during dinner time because Mrs. Grant made the best fried chicken! It was great to be able to see and embrace her last year at a retreat in October 2019 after many years had passed. She will be truly missed. Rest In Peace Mrs. Grant. You will be truly missed.
