

Kenney Desilien

December 12, 1992 - January 19, 2018

Kenney Desilien was born in Broward General Hospital on December 12, 1992. He was the son of Etendyl Desilien and Irosemane Desilien. Kenny alongside his siblings Stanley, and Irish Desilien grew up in Pompano Beach the majority of their lives. When he was young, Kenney enjoyed playing outside, and always found creative things to do. His favorite color was blue, so we as a family are saluting him by wearing his favorite color.

Kenney was intimidating not only because of his presence, but also because of his strong intellectual knowledge. For his young age, he was very wise, and very loyal. When he lost contact with family and friends he would always reach out to them. The main thing he would always mention is the whole family getting back together, and having a reunion. The moment he was admitted to the hospital, family members gathered that hadn't been in contact in years to be by his side. That definitely made him happy, and as we're joined together today this is all he ever wanted.

May his death erase selfishness and hate within the family, and add forgiveness, love, and support. Although Kenney didn't make it, he fought to live. He proved the doctors and nurses wrong, and put them to shame. He left this earth when he was ready. We lost a real one.

Condolences to the Desilien, Cine, Desilus, Fleurejuste, Dorest, and Joseph family.
