

Latasha Nicole Walton

September 23, 1986 - March 12, 2019

The life and legacy of a Queen, the beautiful Latasha Nicole Walton better know simply as (Tasha or T-Bird for fun) came into this world in the early start of autumn on September 23, 1986 she was born in Ft. Lauderdale at Broward General Hospital. She was a gorgeous, vibrant, and beautiful baby girl. Born to the parentage of Carlos Gonzales and the late amazing Brenda Lee Walton Wright who Tasha deeply cherished. After giving birth to Latasha, standing right by her side in the delivery room was her then boyfriend turned husband Alphonso Wright Sr. who took Tasha as his own and they both raised her and showered Latasha with true love, peace, joy and happiness. She admired the union they shared. Tasha was the oldest of her two siblings Allison Shemia Wright (Worm) and her brother Alphonso Wright Jr. (Man- Man). The three siblings all shared the same room, the same dreams where they laughed together, played together and often times got each other in trouble by pulling pranks and telling jokes with each other. They had an amazing childhood and over time they built this dynamic bond where they were inseparable and were one another's best friend.

She started her elementary education in the Broward County School System at Broadview Elementary on to Charles Drew Elementary School in Pompano Beach, then to Crystal Lake Middle School where she participated in many activities such as "Lady's Intrigued" a program for young women on a mission for greatness. Finally she completed her education at Blanche Ely High School where she was well known, loved and admired by many of her classmates.

Later after her education was completed as she entered into adulthood she met her first love and father to her children Lafortune Normil Sr. they spent ten years together and birth their own two bundles of joy; Lafortune Normil Jr (Nunu) who was their pride and joy; and six years later they welcomed their last amazing baby boy Jeremiah (Duke) Normil.

Shortly after living their every day life with one another they received the worst news they ever could imagined, in the late summer June 22, 2003; the family suffered a terrible loss and was completely devastated to learn their 35 year mother gained her wings and was called home to eternal life in Heaven with her Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. The three children, then 16,14 and 12 were shocked, broken and lost. Latasha did not let that break her, she was able to push through every obstacle in her way even heartbreak and she immediately became a mother to her siblings and her very own son Nunu (only 3months old at the time), she raised them all as her own by working two jobs and providing a roof over their heads.

Time passed by and the three siblings remained close and intimate with each other celebrating every birthday, holiday and family vacation through out the years along with close family and friends.

Latasha finally found her true love and lifelong partner in her fiancé Steve Charles who proposed to her on her birthday last year with a diamond ring. She was floored by the new engagement and was set to be married in 2020. They shared five beautiful years together and two unfortunate miscarriages due to a few complications. They mourned together and their bond grew even closer; they pushed through and spent countless hours of joy, peace and happiness in complete bliss every single day they lived side by side. She would often say "Allison I Found my husband."

Earlier this year they settled down in the beautiful and pleasant city of Boca Raton, Florida. Latasha was a phenomenal mother and aunt to her children as well as her three nephews Jayden, Arlo and Mason and one niece Breonna, she would often say. She loved and provided for them like her own, she would always remind me saying “Sis I’m going to work hard and provide a lifestyle better than we had growing up for all of us” and she meant just that. Tasha was an active, kindhearted mother: every morning she would wake them up, dressed her children, fixed them breakfast and drive them to and from school. She loved being a mother and aunt; her nephews and niece would often say she was the world’s greatest because she would give them anything they asked for and every thing she did was full of love and was done with a pure heart. The kind of heart she had was bigger than life and to see other people happy was always her priority. She did the same for every single person in her family, a countless number of friends, and even strangers she would just meet. She loved and she loved hard and anyone that knew her around the world can attest to the fact that she was a class act. She adored FAMILY and Friends and just wanted the best for everyone around her.

As time passed she grew into her own wisdom of what she wanted for herself and began her professional career and became her own Boss and opened her own business of distributing hair/wigs and other beauty products. Her small business was excelling and she was so proud of her future endeavors to expand.

Sadly on March 12, 2019 at 7:30 pm Latasha’s Lord and Savior Jesus Christ spoke from his heavenly home in the sky and spoke into her soul and said “Latasha well done my daughter my purpose for you in this world is complete: come be with me in my heavenly home where the angels are rejoicing and many of your family are with me already.” Tasha believed in God’s word and took his hand and gladly accepted.

She leaves to richly cherish in her memories her two hand- some heartbeats, her sons: Lafortune Boi (Nunu) Normil Jr (16) and her splitting image, twin and her baby boy Jeremiah (Duke) Normil; three siblings and best friends: Allison Wright and brother in law (Brian King), Alphonso Wright and sister in law (Courtnei Linder), and Carissa Gonzalez of West Palm Beach FL; three nephews: Jayden Clayton, Arlo and Mason King; one niece: Breonna Marie Wright all of Pompano Beach, FL; father: Alphonso Wright Sr. of Pompano Beach, FL; two grandmothers: Sally B. Walton of Pompano Beach, FL and Eva Gonzales of Orlando, FL; aunts: Sharon Crockett (Reginald Crockett), Diana, Rosemary, and Linda Gonzales of Pompano Beach, FL; uncles: Jamita Toussaint (favorite) Bryant, Homer, Shawn Walton and Reginald Crockett of Pompano Beach, FL, Billy Joe and Alberto Gonzales of Orlando, FL; great aunts: Nannie and Clint Walton of Bronx, NY, Evie Cohen of Yonkers, NY, Martha Satterfield of California, Elizabeth Meyers of Deerfield Beach and Hugh Dodson of NY, favorite cousins: Reginald Crockett, Christina Diaz and Patricia Ware, best friends: Eugene Lumsdon and Samantha Payne who each shared most of her best years, love and laughter with and a host close relatives and friends.
