

Rose Pierre

January 19, 1953 - February 27, 2025

Rose Aldophe Pierre's known to many as Rose journey began on January 19, 1953, in the quaint city of Venice, Haiti, where she entered the world as the ninth cherished child of Nerestina and Aldophe Pierre, surrounded by the love of her large and endearing family.

In her early adult years, Rose ventured to Port-au-Prince, embracing the allures of city life and expanding her horizons. Eager for new adventures, she made her way to the United States, initially settling in the sunny state of Florida and later in Massachusetts. However, the chill of Massachusetts proved to be too harsh for her warm spirit, prompting her return to the welcoming embrace of Florida's sunshine.

It was in Florida where Rose's life truly bloomed as she encountered the love of her life. Meeting the father of her children, she embarked on a journey of partnership, love, and dreams. Their union blossomed into a beautiful family, with Benito, Wilnick, Tamara, and Rodnel Lozandier becoming the pride and joy of their lives. Rose poured her heart and soul into nurturing her children, instilling in them the values of love, kindness, and perseverance.

Renowned for her infectious laughter, genuine warmth, and unwavering support, Rose was a pillar of strength for those around her. Her ability to connect with others on a deep and meaningful level and offering advice earned her an irreplaceable place in the hearts of many. Her unwavering resilience and unwavering faith carried her through life's trials and inspired all who had the privilege of knowing her.

A devout woman of faith, Rose found solace and community in her church, where her faith flourished, and her spirit found peace through prayer and fellowship. Her selfless acts of kindness and unwavering dedication to serving others left an indelible mark on the lives she touched, embodying the essence of compassion and generosity.

Rose Aldophe Pierre recently became ill and passed away at home in the presence of her husband and children on February 27, 2025. While Rose's physical presence may be gone, her memory lives on, in the hearts of all who had the privilege of crossing paths with her.

She leaves behind to mourn her loving husband Benito Lozandier her loving children: Tamara Lozandier, Rodnel Lozandier and Wilnick Lozandier.

Brothers: St. Martin Pierre, Brunot Pierre and Augustin Pierre Sisters in law: Exanie Pierre and Marie Colette Pierre, The entire Pierre family, and host of nieces, nephews, cousins, friends who will all miss her dearly.

To our dearest Rose, our mother, our rock, our guiding light, your love, your wisdom, and your spirit will forever illuminate our paths. Your legacy of kindness and strength will continue to inspire us, and your memory will be cherished for all time. Rest in eternal peace, dear Rose, knowing that your influence and the love you shared will resonate for generations to come.
